

Let's Grow Something Great Together!

Hello From Dave:

Thanks for taking a look at what we offer. Therapy Gardens started in 2021 with one simple goal—to bring people together through meaningful activities. What began with a few garden workshops during the pandemic has grown into a flexible set of programs that help organizations like yours engage their communities in a fresh, easy way.

We've now partnered with hundreds of senior centers, libraries, and organizations of all kinds. What they have in common is this: they're busy, resourceful, and committed to showing up for their people. That's who we build for.

Everything we create—whether it's a seasonal tea blending kit or a tech workshop on AI—is designed to be both thoughtful and doable. No fluff. No wasted time. Just real tools that spark connection and conversation.

If you're looking for programs that you can run yourself, or ways to bring new energy to your calendar, we'd love to be part of that. Think of us less like a vendor, more like a partner who gets how this work really happens.

You'll find the details below—but feel free to reply or reach out if you want to talk through ideas or next steps.

Hope to connect soon.

Next Steps

If you're ready to bring one of our programs to your group or just want to talk through ideas, here's the easiest way to move forward.

1. Pick a Format

Decide what works best for your setup—do you want to run the program yourself using our ready-to-go materials, or have us come in and lead or introduce it for you?

2. Choose a Program

We've got a variety of options—from seasonal garden kits to food-based socials to tech and wellness presentations. If you're not sure what fits, we can help you narrow it down.

3. Reach Out

Email dave@therapygardens.com or fill out our quick interest form online. We'll confirm details, answer any questions, and help you get what you need.

4. Schedule or Ship

Once you're set, we'll either get it on the calendar or send you the materials. Most partner-led kits ship within a few days, and we'll provide everything you need to run a smooth session.

That's it. No forms buried five clicks deep. No red tape. Just clear support to help you bring something meaningful to your group.

Let's Make It Happen

We know you're busy—and we're here to make this easy. Whether you're trying something new or filling a last-minute spot on the calendar, we'll meet you where you are.

- ✓ Flexible formats
- ✓ Seasonal and other topics
- ✓ Clear guides, real support.

We believe the best programs don't just check a box—they create a moment. If that's what you're after, we'd be proud to be part of it.

Let's build something together.
